SENATE.

BILLS, RESOLUTIONS, ETC. WASHINGTON, February 2.-Senator Washington, February 2.—Senator Wright [fowa], from the judiciary committee reported back the house bill changing the time of meeting of the United States district court in fowa, with an amendment, fixing the time of meeting at Council Bluffs, on the fourth Monday in March and September of each year, instead of the third Tuesday of those months. Passed. Also a resolution directing the committee on finance to inquire into the expediency of abolishing the office of commissioner of internal revenue, as well as other offices in that bureau, and imposing the duties of the revenue office on the treasury. Agreed to. POSTAL AFFAIRS.

Senator Scott introduced a resolution in-structing the postmaster-general to report to the senate the contractors for the transportaion of the mails holding more than five con-racts on the thirtieth of June last, how many mare so u the thirtieth of June last, how many mave been let to sun-contractors, and at what prices; also if there is not a class of professional bidders who seek to gain control of numerous routes, and under-bid bonz fide bidders; and further, what legislation is needed to enable the department to secure bona fide contractors at the lowest price. Laid over on objection of Senator Hamlin. MOTION TO RECONSIDER.

Senator Schurz called up the motion to re-consider the vote by which the bill for the re-lief of Marcus Ottenburg, late United States consul at the City of Mexico, was passed. Pending the discussion the morning hour ex-pired, and the motion went over. DEPOSITS IN THE POSTOFFICE DE-PARTMENT. PARTMENT.

Senator Sargent introduced a bill in relation to certain deposits in the postoffice department. It authorizes the postmaster-general to collect certified checks on the national banks, deposited by bidders as security for the faithful performance of contracts, and to place the proceeds in the treasury of the limited States, to remain there until the contracts are awarded; after which the amounts shall be returned to the bilders depositing it. In explanation of the bill Senator Sargent said that the bidders preferred to have their deposits in the treasury of the United States instead of national banks, which too frequently failed. About one thousand of such checks ly failed. About one thousand of such enecks were now in the hands of the postmaster-general, where they must remain by law until the first of July. Referred. SENATOR MORTON ADDRESSED THE SENATE SENATE on Louisiana affairs. He reviewed the argument of the Senator from Wisconsin [Carpenter], and contended that the Keilogg government was the legal government of the State, the President and the other house of congress having recognized it. He quoted from the Rhode Island case of Potter against Robbins, and said that it directly sustained his views in this case. The senator [Carpenter] would admit he was more familiar with the laws of Wisconsin than those of Louisiana, and certainly the decisions of the legal tribunals in Louisiana were entitled to much more weight than the argument of any politician or senator. The question before the senate now depended upon the former decision of Judge Durell. Mr. Morton then spoke at some length as to the legal powers of the President to employ the land and naval forces of the United States, and said the views of the senator from Wisconsin on that question were too warm. He thought the argument of that gentleman [Carpenter] that the President had never recognized the Kellogg legislature, seemed to be trilling with the whole matter. The President did recognize that legislature. Even if he had gnize that legislature. Even if he had RECOGNIZED KELLOGG AS GOVERNOR RECOGNIZED KELLOGG AS GOVERNOR and that amounted to the same thing. The recognition of the Kellogg government by the President was in persuance of law. The proposition to set aside the State government of polisions and order a new election was one of the gravest character. It could not be done without setting aside a portion of the constitution of Louisiana. If congress should order a new election now the constitution of Louisiana, where we give the property of the constitution of a new election now the constitution of Louis-isna would require another one for members of the legislature next November. Senator Conkilng thought that nothing could be more fuliactous in testing the pow-ers of the President, than the argument of the senator from Wisconsin (Carpen-ter), that he must receive informa-tion from the legislature of the State, and demand for interference before he could in-terfere. He [Conkling] would venture to say if turbulence existed in any State of the Union, and the President knew of it, he could interfere even if he but received an outcry from the governor. No matter about the form of application the President's powers would be as full as if he had received a received in the president and the received and the president's powers would be as full as if he had received athority to decide whether exigency had

THE USE OF FEDERAL FORCES ested, entirely with the President, and he and a right to take into consideration the had a right to take into consideration the letter of Pinchback chaiming to be acting governor on the nineteenth of December, and all other information he could get. Therefore it seemed to him that the argument of the gentleman from Wisconsin [Carpenter], to which he would subsequently take occasion to reply, seemed to have degenerated into unere criticism on the form of application, synator Morton resumed, and said he agreed with the senator from New York [Conkling], and want farther. He [Morton] believed the President could act without any application from a synte, under the general charge to see President could act without any approximation from a State, under the general charge to see the laws en orced. To the blood-stained system of State Novereignty all present troubles in Louisiana raight be traced back, but a State had many rights which it was the duty of the federal government to protect. Should congress undertake the work of reconstruction in Louisiana, it must actually OVERTURN A LEGAL STATE GOVERN-MENT.

which is republican in its form. While he depioned the condition of things in that State, and earnestly hoped the people would take warning and insist on fairer elections, he thought it better that they should bear the evils they have than invoke the national government to exercise power under which the State governments would exist hereafter only by sufferance. The condition of affairs in isometana, in 1872, was fearful; a state of actual war was far less destructive to the people than a condition of riot and murder. During the last seven years Louisiana had been than a condition of riot and inducer. Dates the last seven years foundina had been drenched with blood by the murderer's hand. The colored people regarded the leaders of the Democratic party there as their natural enemies, and shrank from them with terror. nemies, and shrank from them with terror. These murderers, so steeped in blood, dis-urbed the pence of Louislana under the preext of supporting the McEnery government. THE MODOCS who murdered General Camby and Dr. Thom-es, made no claims to civilization. As com-pared with the murderers of Louislana, the Modocs were gentle, amiable warriors. He Modoes were gentle, amiable warriors. He [Morton] would say to the people of Louisiana, that they must stop this murder business. The people who instigated these murders would persist. God had so declared it in this holy word, and throughout the history of mankind. The election in 1828, in Louisiana, respective. The election in 1898, in Louislana, under the reconstruction act, was fair, and the Republicans carried the State by twenty six a Sousand majority; but after that the kniklux were organized, and as to what it accomplished, but was shown by the report of the committee on southern outrages, from which he had extracts read by the clerk. Cobtiuning his argument, Senstor Morton said that Kellogg was a man of ability and personal magnetism and the Republican party, in the contest of 1872, was swindled outrageously on every hand, and had it not been for the Kellogg would have been elected by fifteen thousand majority. He knew there was fraud on the Republican side. Fraud begets fraud. the usand majority. He knew there was frand on the Republican side. Frand begets frand, and persecution begets persecution to begets persecution to the Resired to make no defense for what had been wrongfully done in Louisiana, but the Republican party of that State had been shamefully slandered and caluminated throughout the land. The election frands committed by the Republicans were but drift-wood upon a pool of blood. He called on the senate to take notice of the persecutions and trials through which the Republican party had passed in that State during the last seven years, and said that the Kellogg government was the best which the State had been ruled by since the end of the war. He had no fear that the Kellogg government would be set which the State had been ruled be seide, but agitation of the question would do sit harm. THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Mr. Wilson IInd. presented four memorials touching the affairs of the District of Columbia, and made a statement in reference to a matter in regard to which he said some erroneous publications had been made respecting the speaker of the house. Two of the papers had been in his hands for the past month and he had sought for considerable time to get the floor in common with the gentlemen; and in common with them had been successful, finally just before the West Virginia election he had given way to the speaker, and had told him he destread the floor for the purpose of submitting this matter of the District of Columbia, and had been informed by the speaker that there was a very great pressure for the floor; that a number of geatlemen were insisting on it, and that after the matter them pending should be disposed of he would try and recognize him. Mr. Wilson, immediately after he learned that the gentleman who had charge of the West Virginia election case was insisting on going on with that question, he then came to the conclusion the speaker would not be warranted in withholding recognition from the gentleman [Smith] from New York for that purpose. He had afterward gone back to the speaker and had another conversation, and the speaker tuen told him that if, after the house passed from the consideration of the election case, he [Wilson] was wiffing to take the risk of submitting the matter. both houses. Kimball, Raymond & Co. were re-elected public printers, beating Carter, Revell & Co., the colored combination, by 83 to 46. John Williams, of Madison, was elected State librarian. The senatorial contest excited@ittle attention to-day, though McKee's friends are working hard. It is generally thought that the Republican nominee will be elected.

THE CANAL.

The Fort St. Philip Scheme Approved-Work to be Begun At an Early Day.

Washington, February 2.—General Humphreys has decided in favor of Major Howell's views concerning the Fort St Phillip canal, and will send his report to congress on Thursday. It seems probable that congress will make an appropriation to commence the work at an early day.

KANSAS.

A United Sentes Senator Elected at Last -Ex-Governor Harvey the Man.

TOPEKA, (Ks.), February 2.-Ex-Govnois, up to 185, when he came to Kansas and engaged in farming. He entered the army when the rebellion broke out, and served as when the rebellion broke out, and served as captain in the tenth Kansas infantry. After the war he was elected to the State senate, and in 1808 was elected to the State senate, and in 1808 was elected governor of Kansas by the Bepublicans, and re-elected in 1870. He is a practical farmer-steadfast Republican and an earnest friend of all gennine reform measures. His personal character is above reproach. No stain of corruption has ever been attached to him, and this election is regarded as a triumph of honesty and farmess in Kansas politics. The final ballot, on which Harvey was elected, stood: Harvey, 75; Plumb, 20; Simons, 18; Storer, 8; Robinson, 4; Snoddy, Fenton and Frice, 2 each, and Davis, Valentine and Anthony, 1 each.

Impeachment of the Notorious Judge-Articles Presented by White of Alabania.

WASHINGTON, February 2, 1874. Mr. White, of Alabama, presented articles of impeachment against Richard Busteed, United States judge of Alabama, which were ordered printed and reterred to the judiciary ordered printed and referred to the judiciary committee. The charges are presented by Alexander White, a citizen of Alabama. The articles are as follows:

First—That he, Judge Busteed, is not and has never been a citizen of the State of Alabama, but is a citizen of the State of New nd-That he has never resided in any of Third—That he has failed to hold courts a Fourth-That on days fixed by law for hold-Fourth—That on days fixed by law for holding the terms of the several district courts, he has often failed to attend, thereby keeping parties, witnesses, counsel and jurors walting at a heavy expense to the people and the government of the United States, merely to subserve his own convenience and caprice. Article fifth is in relation to a libel suit by K. M. Reynolds against Judge Busteed, in which it is alleged that money was taken from the registry of the court and paid to Reynolds in consideration of a dismissal of suit.

New York Items. NEW YORK, February 2 .- It was currently rumored yesterday, by those who have access to the inner circle of Brooklyn politi-cians, that affidavits were placed in the hands class, that andavits were pinced in the hands of Governor Dix a week ago, giving the origin and history of the Morris infernal-machine, and that the job was put up in order to prejudice the case of District-Attorney Britton.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Great Eastern Circus. The Great Eastern circus and menagerie will pitch its mammoth tents on the bluff to-day, and give four entertainments, the last being to-morrow night. This circus is one of the most interesting that has ever visited Memphis, and will attract large crowds. The following compinmentary notice is from a Louisville (Ky.) paper, and is, doubtless, deserved: "It is the most gigantic affair of the age, having an immense twelve center-poletent, and comprises within its varied departments the dazzling splendor of arenic talent, the instructive wonders of zoology, the attractive curiosities of the museum; the thousands of pleasing attractions of its many departments will greatly amuse, instruct and benefit the public taste for a moral show, and will at once display the wonderful accomplishments of genius and art. The Great Eastern is one of the modern show triumphs, in which the splendor of Rome in her golden age, when the imperial Casar Augustus held sway in that magnificent empire, is entirely eclipsed. The tact, genius, and successful management in the complistion of this leviathan, stamps the originators of the Great Eastern as the monarchs of American showmen, if, indeed, they may not dispute the palm with the world. A larger list of artists was never before exhibited; a better selection of animals and curiosities cannot be found on the globe." The Great Eastern circus and menag-

Memphis Theater. A dramatization of Dickens's inter-

A dramatization of Dickens's interesting novel of Oliver Twist was produced at the Memphis theater last night, on the occasion of the first appearance of Miss Marian Mordaunt, who commenced a brief engagement. The audience was an excellent one, and almost without exception the most enthusiastic assemblage that has patronized the theater this season. Miss Mordaunt came here almost unheraided and unknown to the patrons of the drama in Memphis, but before the curtain fell on the second act of the play she gave abundant evidence that she was possessed of histrionic talents of the very highest order. The scene, at the close of the act, was worked up in the most thrilling manner by Miss Mordaunt as "Nancy Sykes," Mr. Lang as "Fagin," and Mr. Moreland as "Bill Sykes." It was full of intensity, and when the noble, devoted, yet unfortunate girl rushed forward to the defense of the little orphan, "Oliver Twist." (Miss Ada Gilman), and in accents ringing, clear and determined declared that, at the peril of her own life, she would rescue him, a spontaneous cheer burst from every part of the house, and, amid the wildest enthusiasmit the curtain had to be raised a couple of times, and then the talented artiste, who, in a single act (for she did not appear till the second), had established herself as a decided favorite, had to come to the front to receive the congratulations of her audience, and was again greeted with a round of cheering. In all the other acts the plaudits were loud and frequent, and the death-scene was terrible in and the death-scene was terrible in its reality. Miss Mordaunt has a splendid its reality. Miss Mordaunt has a splendid stage presence, and is possessed of a beautifully modulated voice, which she uses with rare skill and discretion. Miss Ada Gillman, who is a most promising soubrette, enacted the character of "Oliver Twist" in a manner that was true to life. Her enunciation was clear and distinct, and she came in for a very fair share of appliause during the evening. Mr. J. A. Lang was an admirable "Fagin," if such a term can be applied to so repulsive a character. His "make-up" was truly character; istic, and he had evidently given the part the most careful study. Mr. Everett was capital as the "Artful Dodger," and in his movements showed that he had studied London low life to advantage. Mr. Moreland was cold and merciless as "Bill Sykes," but manyof the minor characters were not at all played up to the mark, the services of the prompter being frequently called into requisition. To-night Oliver Treist will be repeated, and to a crowded house.

PRONUNCIA MENTO

Of ye Merry Momus, King of the Carnival, who speaks thus to Our Well-Beloved and Ruffled Subjects:

By the power in us vested as Momus I. King of the Carnival, Prince of Fuu, and Provider of Merriment for the Million, we proclaim Mardi Gras & day of Merriment, Revelry and Rejoicing, and command our Armies of Pleasure to rally to our standard, with one bold attack to vanquish Care.

Being unable to find any Privates, we have holders of the Selma, Marion and Memphis | enlisted every General and Colonel in the land, and have formed a coalition with th Directors to serve during the ensuing year, following mighty, formidable powers, and pronounce our grand army of MIRTH invulnerable:

Our subjects are commanded to give all strangers a right royal welcome. Their enjoyments shall be our especial care. Our fair ladies and Children are particularly commanded to take part in the Revel: immu nity from offense being guaranteed; our valiant Chief, Captain Athy, being charged with this and the order of our city. All places of Business, public and private will close at 1 o'clock p.m., except the station use, which will remain wide open for the eception of all who forget, the dignity of our Festival and overstep the bounds of decency Scattering Eggs and Flour are spots which can only be wiped out by a drill on the chaingang. Weapons, ball and clustn and two brooms. Winters shall be Grand Umpire.

And further to honor this, the city of our love have we determined to make our Grand Entre of Occupation on the 16th inst., attended by our Court Retainers chmen and Faro Dealers, and we will hold our Grand Levee and receive all of ou subjects who are bearers of letters with the mysterious marks, commonly called room for all who desire the light of ourglory to shine upon them, have we prepared our Castle Exposition, where our Grand Ball will
